You haven't missed the chance to register for C&D World 2015, the Annual Meeting of the Construction & Demolition Recycling Association. This year we're back in Nashville on March 29–31, at the new Music City Center. Here's a peek at what's in store:

On Sunday, March 29, we're pleased to have keynote speaker Ed Sullivan, PCA chief economist, share his construction industry economic forecast. After his address, the exhibit hall will open with a grand ribbon-cutting ceremony. This is your chance to check out the latest tools and technology in the business and network with a virtual Who's Who in C&D recycling.

At our annual awards breakfast on Monday, March 30, we'll honor individuals and organizations that have made notable contributions to the C&D Recycling Industry. Charles Gusmano of Southern Waste Systems and Dr. Timothy Townsend of the University of Florida will be inducted into the C&D Recycling Hall of Fame. We'll also honor E.L. Harvey & Sons as the CDRA Recycler of the Year and Jason Haus of Dem-Con, who has been chosen CDRA Member of the Year. There will also be a nod to Publix Super Markets (Lakeland, FL), Interior Removal Specialist (South Gate, CA) and MBL Recycling (Palatine, IL), the recipients of this year's President's Awards.

On Monday afternoon, You won't want to miss our session on Legislation and Regulation that Affects the C&D Recycling Industry. Hear what the regulators are saying that will impact your business, and how your association is responding to them. Gary Sondermeyer of Bayshore Recycling (and formerly of the New Jersey DEP) will moderate this informative session.

On Tuesday, March 31, Dr. Townsend will present the data collected during his research for the CDRA white paper, The Benefits of Construction and Demolition Debris Recycling in the United States.

It's not too late to join the fun at Gaylord Springs, one of Nashville's premier golf courses, for the CDRA golf outing, sponsored by Eagle Crusher. Bring your clubs—or rent everything you need at the course—and hit the links with other C&D World attendees before you head back home. The course is a short 15-minute drive downtown and 10 minutes from Nashville International Airport. Register online (click here) or call 678-341-3055 (be sure to reference C&D World) to secure your spot. Registration fees are $165 per person.
